

Artificial Intelligence Usage Statement

Milne Safety Limited is committed to providing professional health and safety, HR, health surveillance and training services while using modern technology responsibly.

Artificial intelligence (AI) tools may assist with administrative work, drafting, formatting, proofreading, research and organising information.

AI does not replace site inspections, assessments, practical training, professional judgement or the expertise of our team. Any AI-assisted reports, assessments, policies, advice or training materials are reviewed by an appropriately qualified member of the Milne Safety team before they are issued or used.

Our findings, advice and recommendations remain the responsibility of Milne Safety Limited. The use of AI does not reduce or transfer the professional obligations we owe to our clients.
